

What's the Big Deal about...

Small Groups?

Think Small...What's the big deal? St. Mark is launching a NEW SMALL GROUPS MINISTRY!

The Bible provides us with the basis for small groups ministry: Jesus and his disciples. Jesus spent his earthly life living, teaching and preaching the Gospel with his closest followers. His emphasis was on people, not 'programs.' Human relationship was the key, as it is with Christian small groups.

Small groups are about worship, fellowship, discipleship, ministry (fun) and evangelism.

They are more than just a prayer group,
more than simply Bible study,
more than a mission project,
more than a dinner with friends.

Small groups are a way of living as community.

Small groups are a way of being church!

Small group members covenant with one another...to attend regularly and to keep confidences (among other things). These covenant groups allow for intimate connections within our larger church family. Small groups are the place where 'everybody knows your name'!

Group leaders are currently being trained and will start forming groups in the New Year. You will be invited to join this transformative ministry beginning January 2nd.

Coordinating Team members are:

Jan Boehme, Bruce Cranston, GlennKnopf,
Jerie Lukefahr and Ginny Mitchem.

Please contact any team member or Pastor Susan with questions or if you feel called to lead a group.

So...starting in 2010, THINK SMALL...

And grow large in your faith!!
